FOREWORD

In this edition of the Kappa Kappa Gamma Directory, the plan of the 1919 directory has been followed, the members being listed under the date of initiation.

The Directory Committee consisted of a National Chairman and a committee from each chapter. Each chapter committee has been made entirely responsible for its own chapter roll. Through the willing cooperation of the chapter committees we have been able to trace many missing members, but there are still many who could not be reached, so the Directory is not as complete and accurate as we could wish.

Any information relative to incorrect addresses or other errors occurring in this book should be sent to the National Chairman of the Directory Committee.

LUCY LEWIS VONNEGUT

National Chairman of Directory Committee.

BRIEF HISTORY OF KAPPA KAPPA GAMMA

Kappa Kappa Gamma fraternity was organized October 13, 1870, at Monmouth College, Monmouth, Ill., by Minnie Stewart, Jennie Boyd, Louise Bennett and Anna Willets. The following year a policy of extension was decided upon and a second chapter, Beta, was established at St. Mary's School, Knoxville, Ill. More or less obscurity surrounds the establishment and life of these early chapters, but according to the most authoritative information obtainable, the next chapters established were; Gamma at Smithson College, Logansport, Indiana; Delta at Indiana State University, Bloomington, Indiana; Epsilon at Illinois Wesleyan University; Eta at the University of Wisconsin; and Zeta at Rockford Seminary, Rockford, Illinois.

Several of the early chapters established were of short life because of anti-fraternity legislation, loose organization, or the decline of the institutions where they existed. But from the period previous to the adoption of the new form of government in 1881 emerged five chapters, Delta, Epsilon, Eta, Theta and Iota, and upon their foundation has been built all the subsequent structure of the fraternity.

During all this early period from 1870 to 1876 Alpha governed and controlled the young fraternity as Grand Chapter. Then because of anti-fraternity legislation in the United Presbyterian College where the parent chapter existed, Alpha weakened in the number of her active members and in power, and the reins of authority as Grand Chapter passed into the hand of Delta. Delta held that office until 1878, then Epsilon was chosen and served until the national convention of September, 1881. At that time the Grand Chapter form of government was replaced by the more efficient Grand Council and Tade Hartsuff of Mu Chapter was chosen first Grand President. The Grand Council consisted of the President and three other members elected as follows:

Margaret Noble, I, Grand Secretary;
 Florence Lee, B B, Grand Treasurer;
 Lida Kline, E, Grand Marshal.

These four officers constituted the Grand Council until 1892 when the office of Registrar was added; and in 1894 the Editor-in-chief of the Key was substituted for Grand Marshal as a member of the Council.

The first convention of the fraternity is said to have been held in 1871 in Monmouth, Illinois, but the meeting, composed, as it was, of the members of the one chapter then in existence, was so informal in character that it has since been doubted whether it deserved the name of "convention." However, since that gathering, of which no written record remains, has so long been counted as the first convention and since all others have been numbered from it, perhaps it would be too confusing to make any correction now. An error also exists concerning what has gone on record as the fourth national convention in Madison, Wisconsin, in 1880, but which never met. This has also been numbered among the national conventions of Kappa, making the last one held in 1926, number twenty-seven, although accurately it should be called the twenty-fifth.

In 1882 Kappa Kappa Gamma began the publication of a magazine called The Golden Key, the first to be issued by a women's fraternity. The name was later changed to The Key and its publication under the direction of the following editors has been authorized as follows:

1882-1886, Minnetta Taylor, Iota chapter.
1886-1894, Phi chapter.
1894-1900, Psi chapter, Mary J. Hull, Editor.
1900-1904, Beta Nu, Lucy Allen Smart, Editor.
1904-1905, Adele Lathrop, Sigma.
1905-1907, Elizabeth Voris, Beta Eta.
1907-1910, Elizabeth Gray Potter, Pi.
1910-1914, Elizabeth Rhodes Jackson, Psi.
1914-1922, Katherine T. Mullin, Beta Sigma.
1922-1924, Rosalie Geer.
1924-1926, Rosalie Geer Parker.

Some uncertainty still obtains concerning the existence of the chapters known as Zeta and Tau, but taking it for granted from the records available that such charters were actually issued, though of short life, there has been a total of 63 chapters. Nine of these have passed out of existence from one cause or another, leaving a total of 54 active chapters.

Kappa Kappa Gamma has always held a conservative policy of extension seasoned with a reasonable inclination for health and normal growth. From the vast number of petitions received during recent years charters have been granted only in those cases in which a strong growing university with the best of material offered itself.

FLORENCE BURTON ROTH,
Historian.
